

Abstract

An insert and method for moving a heavy steel plate comprising 5 drilling a hole through the steel plate, threading the hole, threadably attaching a hollow cylindrical insert into the threaded hole in the plate using a locking compound, the insert having male threads on the outer surface and female threads on the inner surface, which are adapted to receive an eyebolt used 10 for lifting and moving the plate.

15

20